Lactanet Privacy Policy Summary

The information collected by Lactanet, voluntarily provided by producers through the use of services, is available to customers in paper and electronic forms. Access to information by advisors and/or any other parties via mail, email, website, or otherwise, requires explicit customer consent.

Lactanet customers acknowledge that Lactanet may collect their personal information, including, but not limited to name, address, phone number and unique animal identification numbers when they use Lactanet services. By providing us with any personal information, customers consent to the sharing of information with the responsible administrator for dairy traceability for the purposes of regulatory and/or voluntary reporting. Further, herds enrolled on Lactanet services may have information published for awards and recognition purposes with annual summaries and year-end publications.

Additionally, selected information from all customers will be provided for the calculation of genetic indexes and sire proofs. Where applicable, information is provided to various breed associations for recognition and breed improvement programs.

Participation in Lactanet testing programs implies consent for the release of data to these third party organizations, unless otherwise stated to Lactanet.

From time to time, Lactanet provides marketing services to third party agricultural organizations. All methods of distribution of marketing materials maintain producer confidentiality. No producer information is sold, traded or otherwise shared.

Lactanet operates under Canada's Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act (PIPEDA).
